

2022 Stahlman Beekeeping E-mail Notes Issue #19a

Storms in the Raleigh area and looking forward to a very cold week-end. This is a follow up on last weeks Notes.

I have been quite busy and forgive me that the introduction is brief. Getting hives ready for the honey season has been on going and I am facing work this next week of starting to raise some queens. Last queen class I taught was a 6 weeks class covering various methods to raise queens. I am working with a few beekeepers this coming week with learned how to graft. I will work some of this into up coming articles.
