

2023 Stahlman Beekeeping E-mail Notes Issue #32a

I am sending this weeks newsletter out from Ohio. I am attending a wedding later today and will be on my way to New York State tomorrow.

Beekeeping remains a challenge to me. I am seeing a number of new beekeepers (I mentor some of them) having real serious issues with their bees now. I was fortunate to have been a member of The Ohio State Horticultures Extension Office as manager of Ohio State's Buckeye Garden in the early 1980's. While there I had an opportunity to meet both Walter Rothenbuhler and Vic Thompson his assistant. Vic was a very special person in my life. I learned so much from him. I have quoted him in this article.
