

2023 Stahlman Beekeeping E-mail Notes Issue #43a

Everyone of us is unique. I would like to share a visit to a bee yard in this article. Not many of us would have the opportunity to have a backyard like the one I visited. I live in a restricted neighborhood that does allow bees but not farm animals (HOA). But I am sharing a very unique visit I had several weeks ago.

Greg Wolgemuth has given me permission to share his story and the pictures I took. I also asked him as I have others what his view is on bee survival.

If you see Greg at any beekeeper meeting, be sure to ask him questions. He is involved in many local bee clubs and gives hours in support of beekeeping promotion and teaching. He is a forester by trade and knows trees inside out.
