

2024 Stahlman Beekeeping E-mail Notes Issue #14a

Time goes so fast. It seems like Saturday mornings roll around too fast from week to week.

This week's article is typical for this time of the year. Swarming is underway. I am reminded how lucky some are to find swarms. I am sharing some material I wrote in 2019 and 2021. The first attached newsletter is for today, but a second newsletter is from 2021. Many of my readers are new. Old back copies are available from a Pennsylvania bee group that archives the notes. 2 Cs and a Bee This is an outstanding bee organization and their web site has much to offer beekeepers. I appreciate their support.

Dana